DAIHATSU

I. Company Profile

Company outline

Name	DAIHATSU MOTOR CO., LTD.
Date of establishment	March 1, 1907
Representative	Masahiro Inoue, President
Main business line	Manufacture and sales of automobiles
Capital	28,4 billion yen
Number of employees (as of Apr 1, 2025)	12,577	males females	11,495 1,082

Origin of the company name

In March 1907, Hatsudoki Seizo Co., Ltd. was established by Professor Yoshiaki Yasunaga and Seishiro Tsurumi who were the head of Osaka Higher Technical School (presently School of Engineering, Osaka University) and the director of mechanical science department of the same school, as well as a group of businessmen, Saneyasu Oka, Masashi Kuwabara and Zenjiro Takeuchi, for the purpose of achieving domestic production of internal combustion engines. In December 1951, the company changed its name to Daihatsu Motor Co., Ltd. The name "Daihatsu" is a combination of the first kanji character for Osaka and the first kanji character for the word meaning "engines."

Corporate mark

Daihatsu's corporate design system consisting of the corporate mark, corporate color, logo, etc. was revised on the occasion of the 90th year of the company establishment, with the aim of visually expressing "Daihatsu ways" and attaining closer and smoother relationships with society. The symbol mark shown at the left is the core element of Daihatsu's corporate design system.

Corporate philosophy

Consigned production/OEM business

As a consolidated subsidiary of Toyota Motor Corporation (hereinafter "Toyota"), Daihatsu collaborates with Toyota in various areas, mainly focusing on small cars, as its specialized field. In 2008, Daihatsu, Toyota and SUBARU Corporation., which has a business tie-up with Toyota, established a solid cooperative system for development and production. From 2020, Daihatsu supplies to Mazda Motor Corporation on an OEM basis.

(1) Consigned production/OEM business arrangement

Consigned production ..... Production of vehicles or engines developed by consigning company and sold under that company's brand at Daihatsu's plant

OEM ..... Supply of vehicles developed and produced by Daihatsu and sold under another company's brand

(2) History of business tie-up with Toyota

November 1967 Daihatsu formed business alliance with Toyota Motor Co., Ltd. and Toyota Motor Sales Co., Ltd.

September 1998 Toyota obtained the majority of the shares of Daihatsu.

August 2016 Daihatsu became a wholly owned subsidiary by the Corporation stock exchange by Toyota.
